A PROPOSITION is on foot to form an Old Timers association in Edmonton. With the rapid increase of population many of those who took an active part in founding settlement and civilization in this region are being forgotten. This is neither right nor desirable. Edmonton is the oldest civilized settlement in the Territories, and the history of its pioneer days would be both interesting and valuable. By all means let an association be formed and the history and traditions of the place preserved.

MESSRS. Poulin, Houle, Terroux, Roy, Lepage and Tetreault, late of Kansas, who visited the Beaver lake region in company with Rev. Father Morin have decided to settle on the Vermillion river about fifteen miles east of Beaver lake settlement, which is said to be one of the best districts for grazing and farming in the Northwest Territories. COMPLAINTS have recently been made of young children shouting and making a disturbance on the street as late as eleven o'clock at night. S. S. & H. C. TAYLOR, barristers, have added a photograph to the appliances of their office. The purpose of the machine is that it will take down without possibility of error whatever is dictated to it, and will then reproduce the same sounds with sufficient slowness to admit of the words being type written. Ordinarily a short hand writer takes down dictated matter and then writes it out on the type writer. It is expected that the photograph will supersede this process. The machine arrived on Monday's train and has been put in working order by T. E. Goodie.

THE Edmonton Creamery Company have received notice of the shipment from London, Ont., on April 21st of the plant and machinery for their creamery at Poplar lake, the building for which was erected last year and operated part of the season as a cheese factory. The outfit comprises an eight-horse boiler and six-horse engine, a No. 1 Alexandria cream separator, two 300 gallon cream vats, one 400 gallon Curtis trunk churn, one power butter worker, one 50 gallon weigh can, one 24 bottle Babcock tester, and all the sundries necessary to the operation of a first-class creamery.

CHAS. ARTHURS is charged to-day before Inspector Snyder and John Cameron, J.P.s, with having obtained goods from one Rudd of Lacombe under false pretences. The goods in question are the horses which were traded by Rudd to Arthurs some weeks ago and afterwards seized by the Edmonton police as having defrauded the customs, but were released. Property in Oregon was given in exchange for the animals which Rudd now asserts was traded to him under misrepresentations. Hence the action. S.S. Taylor for plaintiff. A. Prince for defendant.

SEEDING is making good progress throughout the district. It is now fully half done in most localities. Although the weather has not been particularly favorable for growth it has been most favorable for work.

SUPREME COURT.

According to the latest issue of the Cal-gary Herald the question of a resident judge for Edmonton has taken a rather unexpected turn. J. R. Costigan, a prominent member of the Calgary bar and son of the minister of inland revenue, on his return from Ottawa told the Calgary Herald that it was the intention of the department of justice to place two resident judges in Calgary, Messrs. MacLeod and Rouleau, whose joint efforts would relieve the congested legal business in Calgary, and incidentally attend to law business north and south as well. No doubt this would be an excellent arrangement—for Calgary, but it does not appear to contain any elements of fair play or relief to this section of the country. The law business of Edmonton is amongst the largest in the Territories. It has certainly become a physical impossibility for one judge to transact the legal business of both places, and with the rapid settlement of the intervening region it becomes a still greater impossibility every year. That Judge MacLeod may not have enough to do to keep him fully employed in his district may be quite true, and if so there is every reason why he should assist in clearing up the crush of work in Calgary; but the project of increasing still further the unwieldy size of the present judicial district of Northern Alberta, as a means of lightening the labor of the judges and decreasing the expense and injustice of long waiting to suitors, does not seem very feasible. If it is true that there is comparatively little and decreasing business in the south and that there is a large and rapidly increasing business in the north and if the government have not the funds to pay another judge, the fair thing to do would be to unite Calgary, where there is so much law business with the southern district where there is so little and give the region north of Calgary where business is large and increasing one of the judges thus left unemployed. It is quite an object to the legal fraternity of any town to have a resident judge. It not only facilitates business originating there, but also enables the legal fraternity there to levy tribute on all contested law business originating at all other points in the district. To give two judges residence in one town does not give the legal fraternity of that town any greater legitimate advantage than they enjoyed from the presence of one; but it gives the illegitimate advantage that the part of the business that otherwise would be done in another town where the second judge should properly be resident, would have to be done in their town and they would be in a position to levy toll on it. At and up to the present time Edmonton has been compelled to pay this toll to the Calgary bar, and as long as law business here is not of large volume there was nothing to be said against it. But at this time, when, owing to increase of population, the business of this district has so largely increased, if changes are to be made they should be with a view of giving this district relief from this burden by allowing it a resident judge. But instead of relieving us from the burden the people of MacLeod, Lethbridge and Pincher creek, all within easy reach of their resident judge, will be placed in the same position as Edmonton, and must pay toll to Calgary bar. As a vivid example of the game of "dead cinch" this scheme takes first rank. It is to be hoped that the bar of Edmonton will take prompt action and find out how much truth there is in the programme as sketched in the Herald, and if it is found to be even approximately correct, take strong measures to show their disapproval, and let the department of justice clearly understand just how much injustice there would be in that act. If the members of the Edmonton bar had to pay their agents' charges in Calgary out of their own pockets, it would not matter so much to the general public. But it is not the lawyers, it is the clients, who have to pay and these charges help to swell the bills of costs that Edmonton litigants have to pay. So that all who may have to sue and all who may be sued are interested in this question.

GENERAL NEWS.

Calgary Herald: There were 86 settlers on last Monday's train north. Of these 38 were from the States, 17 from Ontario, 5 from Quebec, 1 from British Columbia and 6 from Nova Scotia. Fifty went to Edmonton, 3 to Leduc, 4 to Wetaskiwin, 2 to Lacombe, 11 to Red Deer, 1 to Penhold, 2 to Innisfail, 3 to Bowden and 10 to Olds.
The Free Press publishes a testimonial signed by the last party of Swedish delegates and settlers brought out to Wetaskiwin by C. O. Swanson as follows: "We, the undersigned delegates and settlers from different parts of the United States, before separating from each other, wish to convey you our thanks and show our appreciation of your kindness and painstaking care in performing the duties of your office. We have visited a number of the settlers, and find them contented, happy and well satisfied, and full of hope and confidence in the future of Alberta. Farmers have already commenced seeding. In fact, we find everything fully as represented in the government and C.P.R. pamphlets, and explained and described by you. We further ask you to publicly thank the management of the C.P.R. for the very excellent accommodation on the way out. We had a tourist car placed at our disposal in Montreal, and with such fine cooking and sleeping accommodation, travel is a pleasure. We heartily join with you in encouraging intending immigrants to come and help build up this land of promise. Further, we wish to say that the reports and letters that have been printed and published in the Swedish language are perfectly true. Our opinions of the country will be fully expressed by saying that our party located thirty-seven homesteads; five at Lacombe and the rest at Wetaskiwin.

MILLERS' TOLLS.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

SIR,

There appeared, a few weeks since, in your interesting and independent journal, a letter signed by J. Knowles, which I have been expecting to see answered, as it deals with a question closely concerning our daily bread, and gives moreover a curious idea of the treatment and consideration due to farmers from a miller's point of view. (I am not acquainted with the writer, but must naturally infer from his letter that he is a miller.) He pretends that the millers of the Northwest are justified in their present exorbitant and scandalous charges, for two principal reasons: Because the cost of putting up and running a mill is greater here than in the east; and because there is no competition. I am prepared to prove, by a complete and exhaustive set of figures (were it not for the sake of your valuable space) that if the cost is greater, the difference is not more than what would warrant an increase of toll of one bushel. That is to say, if the Ontario miller takes the tenth bushel, which as a rule he doesn't, the Alberta miller would be fairly remunerated with the ninth. At present we don't know what he takes, and I doubt whether he knows himself. A friend of mine, some weeks ago took wheat to the mill; he got 45 lbs. of flour to the bushel, and was delighted. A fortnight later he took some more of the same wheat, from the same heap, in the same granary, off the same field, to the same mill, which is not a thousand miles from here. He got 24 lbs. to the bushel. I know several such instances. Can give names if desired. As to competition, the less there is the surer the miller is of being always employed, the less risk of loss of all kinds, the more grain he will grind and the less necessity for grinding the farmer as well. Mr. Knowles gives us to understand, with an assumption of disclaim that is really uncalled for, that milling is an art that can't be learnt at the plough handle. That is all right; we admit it. If it could, there wouldn't be so many bad millers as there are. There are quite a few professions though, learned and other, that are not learnt at the plough handle, but it is no earthly reason why the plough handle shouldn't get fair treatment from them. What would the miller say if E. Raymer were to charge him $10 for cleaning his watch, just to make him understand that watch making is not learnt in a flour sack?

Says Mr. Knowles, "If the farmers would only quit taking grain to the mill, the millers would become as honest as any other person in any other branch of business." Well, Great Scott! in that case I suppose they'd have to. But then it follows that, in the present state of affairs they are not "as honest as other persons, etc." We always suspected as much, but we wanted this straightforward confession to be quite sure. Finally, our friend winds up with the breezy and untarnished declaration that, do what we may the millers of this free country will continue to beat us throughout all time to come. We doubt it. We have an idea, true or false, that by the time this little group of hardworking and intelligent farmers, and other such little groups in this great country come to be a trifle bigger—and they are growing apace—the plough handle will bring the mill to a sense of its reasonable obligations; and if not, it will be the worse for the mill. The plough handle, mind you, has done great things. It has turned out great men, all the time from Cincinnati to Abraham Lincoln. But history is mute on millers!

Fort Saskatchewan, April, 1894.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA.

The annual spring show for stallions and bulls was held here on the 27th instant. There was not as large an exhibit of either as expected. Quite a number of visitors from the surrounding country were present. The following is the list of animals taking prizes:

STALLIONS.

Registered imported draught stallion, 1st. "The Ringer," Chas. Paradis.
Registered heavy draught, 1st. "Bonnie Boy," W. Walker.

General purpose, 1st. "Young Gleaner," E. Fleming.

Roadster, 1st. "Blackthorn," M. McCauley; 2nd. "Jimmy Mitchell," R. Tindal.

Carriage, 1st. "Black Diamond," C. F. Stewart; 2nd. "Hansome John Jr.," C. Armitage.

Cleveland Bay, 1st. "Monarch," Geo. Gould.

BULLS.

Thoroughbred Durham bull, 1st. "Lily White," J. B. Adamson.

The judges for stallions were Messrs. Jas. Atkinson, Murdoch McLeod and Mr. Kennedy; and for bulls Messrs. Alex. Adamson, L. Moret and John Whitson.

A horse race took place immediately after the show was over between C. F. Stewart's "Blueskin" and John C. Morris' "Bay," and was won by the first named.

An accident happened to our ferry last night about 9 o'clock, which resulted in the drowning of a nice little bay horse belonging to James Graham. It seems that Mr. Graham and two of his teams were crossing with loaded wagons, and the bay was tied to the tail end of one of the wagons and could not get loose in time as the ferry swamped so suddenly. Mr. Joseph Lamoureux, who was in charge of the ferry, promptly unhooked the traces of the two teams in time to save their lives. This accident ought to learn Mr. Lamoureux a lesson as to the foolishness of his leaving his ferry year after year to freeze in the ice, and never get a chance to properly dry out, and be recalled every spring as question is now thoroughly waterlogged, and if so the sooner a new ferry is put on the better for the safety of the travelling public, as it is under a license from the Northwest Government, and there is too much travel at this point to run further risk.

Everyone who knows Mr. D. L. Scott, Q.C., of Regina, was pleased with the BULLETIN's leader of the 23rd instant, advocating his claims to the judgeship. We hope to be able to congratulate him shortly. 28th April, 1894.

BOARD OF TRADE.

A meeting of the council of the Edmonton board of trade was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening, May 1st. The following reply from C. C. Chipman, commissioner of the H.B.C. to a request for the lease of the present race track for a term of years as a public park was read:

Winnipeg, April 26.

To I. Cowie.

Secretary Edmonton board of trade.

Sir,—I have to acknowledge your letter of the 19th inst. and in reply to say that the subject referred to will have early consideration, and an effort made to meet the wishes of your board in this matter. I can hold out no hope, however, that you will be able to secure the present race course.

It was moved by Messrs. Cowie and McDonald that the representatives of the societies and clubs which united with the board in asking a lease of the race course be invited to hold a joint meeting this day tonight (May 17th) to consider Mr. Chipman's letter and further discuss the matter.

Moved by Messrs. McDonald and Walker that the society be instructed to ask the co-operation of the town council to defray the expenses of the proposed advertisement in the Western Guide published by the Western Advertising Co., Winnipeg.

Moved by Messrs. McDonald and Walker that the question of dues be referred back to the committee on by-laws to report to a special council meeting.

ADDRESS.

The following address of welcome was presented on behalf of the French population of St. Albert to His Lordship Bishop Grandin on his recent return from Europe:

A Sa Grandeur, Monseigneur Vital J. Grandin, Evêque de St. Albert, à l'occasion de son retour d'Europe.

MONSEIGNEUR,—St. Albert a revêtu aujourd'hui ses plus beaux habits de fête. Monseigneur, il a déployé ses oriflammes, hissé ses drapeaux et fait entendre ses accents les plus joyeux. Il a le cœur gai et se sent heureux, car il le voit enfin son évêque. Tout à l'heure, pendant que vous étiez prosterné à l'autel, bien des actions de grâce ont accompagné les vôtres, remerciant Dieu de ce retour si longtemps attendu. Il y a bien longtemps déjà, Monseigneur, que vous nous avez quittés; vos enfants, qui ne vous oublient jamais, ont senti leur isolement leur peser un peu durant votre absence. Nous étions seuls à la Toussaint à prier pour nos morts et à la fête si gaie de Noël, au jour glorieux de la Résurrection du Christ, il y avait une place de vide dans cette église. Involontairement, beaucoup d'entre nous vous cherchaient des yeux, car vous êtes notre père spirituel, l'intermédiaire entre Dieu et vos ouailles, et votre cœur pastoral ne desirait que votre bien à tous.

Nous l'avons bien vu durant votre voyage en Europe. Après les premiers instants consacrés à votre santé, vos pensées se sont tournées vers nous. Vous êtes allé à Rome demander la bénédiction apostolique; et une fois les biens spirituels acquis à votre diocèse, vous avez songé à ses avantages temporels. Vous avez parcouru la France et la Belgique, cherchant partout à nous faire connaître, rencontrant les Sociétés de Colonisation, nous faisant enrouler parmi leurs membres, leur parlant du pays, de ses ressources, des son climat. Et quand la-bas votre œuvre fut terminée, quand vous eûtes de nouveau mis le pied sur cette terre du Canada, votre pays d'adoption, malgré les soins et le repos que votre santé exigeait, vous voulûtes travailler encore, travailler toujours à nos intérêts. Vous saviez qu'il avait lieu l'année dernière; vous comprîtes l'inquiétude de nous nous trouvions en face de nos intérêts menacés. Vous vous êtes alors remis en route; vous avez parcouru la province de Québec; vous avez parlé aux princes de l'Eglise et leur avez dit ce à quoi nous tenons, nous, les Canadiens de l'Ouest, et ce qu'on voulait nous ôter. Vous deviez être en ce moment là, Monseigneur, et c'est avec toute votre ame que vous avez dû nous convoquer à la croisade des droits sacrés.

Aussi, nous éprouvons aujourd'hui non seulement de la joie, mais de la fierté et de la reconnaissance. En même temps que nous nous sentons heureux de votre retour, votre présence nous rassure, et nous fait demander comme un favori de rester toujours au milieu de nous. Veuillez croire, Monseigneur, que vous avez au milieu de nous un besoin, et accordez nous cette faveur aussi longtemps qu'il vous sera possible.

Enfin, Monseigneur, donnez-nous votre bénédiction afin que nous participions un peu à vos mérites, et que Dieu nous fasse la grâce de rester toujours unis et fermes à vos côtés pour l'Eglise et pour le pays.

En. P. BENOIT, M.D.

THE ROSE MAIDEN.

The second production of the "Rose Maiden" cantata, on Tuesday evening in Robertson hall, was greeted by a fair audience, but not as large as the performance of three weeks ago. The soloists were: Miss Cookson, soprano; Mrs. Mackenzie, contralto; Mr. McIntyre, late of Glasgow, Scotland, tenor; and C. D. T. Becher, baritone. The change of tenor was rendered necessary by Mr. Raymer having contracted a severe cold in the throat. The members of the chorus appeared in full force. The following composed the orchestra assisting: O. May, cornet; J. B. Spurr, clarinet; F. Cory, violin; Mr. Boyle, double bass; F. H. Andrews, piano. Mr. Andrews had entirely recovered from the effects of the accident which preceded the first performance. The difficult music of the cantata was rendered most effectively throughout, more than justifying the almost audacity of the attempt at producing such a difficult piece where such a large number of performers must be drawn from such a comparatively small population. The duet of Miss Cookson and Mr. McIntyre, "I know a rosebud shining," and the final chorus received merited encores.

A vote of thanks to conductor Randall and the members of the company was moved by Mayor McCauley, seconded by G. R. F. Kirkpatrick, and was carried with hearty good will.

Mr. Randall responded with a few suitable remarks.

The second part of the programme was as follows:

Piano solo, "Don Juan" Miss Richardson. Song, "Should he upbraid," Miss Cookson, encore. "Down the Sulist Stream," Cornet solo, "Noble Heart," Oliver May. Song, "The Song that reached my heart," Mrs. Hockley, encore. Song, "Bedonin Love Song," A. G. Randall, encore.

A dance followed the programme which lasted until 2:30 on Wednesday morning, music being furnished by Mr. Ring on the violin, and Mr. Andrews on the piano.
